Confirmation Class Covenant

2007

Confirmation Class serves several purposes for us. It is a time to examine the historical Christian faith and how that connects to our faith as individual believers. It also helps us for understand the vows taken for us at our baptism (if we were baptized as infants) and the act of Confirmation gives us an opportunity to publicly make our own profession of faith in Jesus Christ. Therefore, The Confirmation design and teaching team promises work at making these opportunities available to youth who wish to take part in this experience.

We also expect the youth and parents to covenant with us for the coming year.

Youth

I will pray for God to make Himself known more fully to me.

I will take this experience seriously.

I will listen and cooperate in class. I will respect others in class.

I will do homework as assigned and come prepared for class.

I will make attendance to weekly Worship Services and class a priority and be here unless I am sick or out of town. I realize that I can participate in other activities in other years; I will only be confirmed once.

I will make attendance at the retreats and outside events on the calendar and planning my schedule around them a high priority in my life.

Parents

I realize the importance of this year and will enable my child to participate as fully as possible.

I will pray for my child's Confirmation experience and for the leaders.

I will encourage and enable my child to take responsibility for this year. (I also am aware that all of us could use a chauffeur and a good secretary to remind us of appointments and I will act in this way for my child.)

I will take the Confirmation Class and Activity dates and place them on my personal and family calendars. I will make this a priority and avoid conflicts with the scheduled classes and events.

I will read and make sure my child reads all Confirmation class mail.

I understand that while there is not an attendance policy for this class, it will not be a valid experience unless my child attends the vast majority of the classes and events.
